The Future of Hungary The Improbability A writer in the Paris Monde, in an article

Some two weeks since, a young lady of Albany, N. Y., awoke from a sleep, feeling distressed and slarmed from the effects of an unpleasant dream. The gas-light was burning, but had been turned down to the closest point, thus making a dim light in the room, and rendering portions of it almost dark. Soon after awakening, the young lady's attention was attracted by the well-defined figure of a lady of her acquaintance moving from the doon some ten feet from the foot of her bed, toward it. Impulsively she called the figure by mans, on the instant forgetting the improbability of the friend being in the house, and the fact that she was not a resi-her bed, toward it. Impulsively she called the figure by name, on the instant forgetting the improbability of the friend being in the house, and the fact that she was not a resident of the city, but resided in St. Louis.

Soon, however, all this recurred to her, and the figure already neared the now alarmed girl. The form and features were perfect and distinct, the expression one of cheerful greeting, and as it approached closer and closer to her side it became dimmer and dimmer, and finally disappeared entirely when it had advanced to within half the length of the bed. The nervousness induced by the incident, naturally enough, induced the young lady to arouse the family, who ascribed the matter to excited imaginings.

But there is a singular sequel. She had forebodings, despite all that was said to calm them, and the next day wrote her friend, detailing the incident. An answer was promptly received, announcing the good health of the writer and the fact that on the same night, and at the same hour, she had been visited in precisely the same manner by the semblance of her friend in Albany, and been alarmed thereby, lest it was the forerunner of evil. The mutual revelation was a relief to both. The circumstance has few, if any parallels, and can partially be ascribed to the love the two girls have for each other, and to active nervous temperaments. active nervous temperaments

Hox. John Bell.—The Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia Press says:

Hon. John Bell is the very beau ideal of the whole Whig party. His name has been identified with that organization for thirty years. A native of Tennessee, a representative of the people in the State Legislature and in both branches of Congress, Speaker of the House, member of the Cabinet, and one of the steadiest enemies General Jackson ever had, he will get the votes of all those who cling to the memory of Henry Clay, or who believe in the settled issues of other days. There is no kinder heart than that which beats in the bosom of John Bell. He is warmly esteemed by those who know him, and never refuses to do a kindness to a political opponent. He is a gentleman of irreproachable morals and an accomplished debater. Hox. John Brit.-The Washington cor-

We find in the Gazette Russe, of St. Petertarg, the following account of the recent visit of Schamyl to Moseow:

Schamyl has returned to Moscow to se Prince Baristinsky, and he is lionized again Moscow is always demonstrative in the expression of its sentiments, and absolute persecutes him with its curiosity, in which is ladies take a large share. I can imagine the terror of the ladies on learning that the Imaum has this opinion of them, their indignation will no doubt cease when they find that Schanyl disapproves of low-nacked dresses because the necks and shoulders appear to him to offer too much temptation; he confesses that they make him feel very ancomfortable.

The male dress also comes in for its share of criticism Schamyl thinks the frock-cost exceedingly inconvenient. The contact of this son of Nature with artificial life is very interesting, as much so as is his patriarchal manner. He demonstrates freely his sympathies and his antipathies. He is very fond of music. If he makes a call anywhere in Kalouga, he asks if somebody will play the piano. He was enchanted when Mr. Romowski had an organ bought for him. A juggler gave him great pleasure. The metamorphisis of a piece of money held in a hand-kerchief by his former cashier fchadjio into a bunch of flowers amused him so much that the remembrance of it, as he afterward concessed, pursued him even when he was a propore. In soile of these Schamyl, having, havin essed, pursued him even when he was prayer. He afterward said: "I have never seen a meaner animal than that; if ever I imagined any form for the Devil, it is that."

that, if ever I imagined any form for the Devil, it is that."

When he was first taken to Kalouga, he went into society willingly, and liked dancing-parties, thinking them more natural and agreeable than ballet-dances; but the naked faces and shoulders of the women troubled him so much that he does not go now. When he is invited to any party he now asks whether there are to be women there, and it so he declines the invitation. In this resolution he has been confirmed by the authority of his sacred books, which treat largely of the naked faces of women. He has had long discussions on this sadject with the commissioner who is attached to his person.

About the year 1650 an Irishman, of family, named Valentine Greatrakes, was living in his patrimony when he fancied he had a mission to heal the sick. He commenced by "laving on of hands," to a scrofulous woman with a large tumor. A few days afterward the tumor burst as a matter of course, and Greatrakes claimed the merit of the cure.

The "miracle man" now went into doctoring on a large scale, and hundreds of people attested their belief in his all-healing powers. You, my dearest Varningen, who are not afraid of grief, but who trace its phase through the depth of sentiment, you should receive at this sorrowful time a few words expressing the love which both brothers fee for you. The release has not yet come. I left him last night at eleven o'clock, and I hasten to him again. The day, yesterday, was less distressing. The voice was very feeble, hourse and thin like a child's—leeches were therefore applied to the throat. Full consciousness! Think often of me, he said the day before yesterday but always with cheerfulness! I was very happy; and this day also was a beautiful one for me, for Love is above all. I will soon be with mother, and have an insight into a higher order of things. I have no shadow of hope. I never thought my old eyes had so many tears! It has justed near eight days.

The Stopidity of an English Admiral.—A Aspinwall an English man-of-war was lying close to the Roanske, having on board Rear Admiral Sir Alexander Mine, Commander-in-Chief of her Britannic Majesty's forces of the North American station, who paid Flag Officer McClinney, of the Roanske, a sisit. He was cordially invited by the flag officer to come on board when the Japanese arrived, but he declined, and afterwards expressed the idea that it was a "great farce-foolish and nonsensical." The Admiral would not hoist his flag, though every other vessel had their colors displayed.

MAN CONVICTED ON CIRCUMSTANTIAL EVIDENCE.—Nathaniel Harten, has been convicted in Marshall County, Va., of the murder "in the first degree" of Miss Melissa Jane Morriss, a young lady only fourteen years old. The murder was committed on the 23d of July last, while Miss M. was on her way to church on a country road. Her body, much decomposed, was found in the woods several days after. The evidence against Harten was altogether circumstantial, but very strong.

Placed between Germany and Russia, Hungary, with herhalf Hungarian adjacent provinces contains a warlike population of 16,000,000 souls. She would perhaps be strong enough to defend and even to aggrandiss herself, if her inhabitants formed a nation united by the ties of language, religion, manners, and traditions, but, though these population may perhaps temporarily coalesce again foreigners, they are incapable of effecing by a rapid fusion ten centuries of separation.

During the last few months, several Croats, Slovacks, Servians, Wallachians and Germans, have fraternised with the proud Magyars whom they combated in 1848. There is nothing surprising in that—such scenes are to be witnessed wherever the European revolutionary idea pouetrates, but there would be great maisete in reducing from that circumtance, that the mass of Croatian, Sclavonian, or Wallachian pessants are about to learn the wives outside of the building. [Langhter and cheers.]

Mr. R. M. Corwine, of Ohio, from the Committee on Rules, reported rules for the Convention. Among the rules are the following: That four votes be east by the delegetes at large, and two for each Congression! District; that 304 votes being a majority of the whole number of votes when all the States of the Union are represented, or the above ratio be required to nominate candidates. Mr. James, of New York, desired to say only seventeen out of twenty-seven States were represented, when the rule requiring 304 votes was adopted by one majority. He presented as the minority report a substitute for the said rule requiring a majority of all the votes cast, to nominate.

Mr. Carter, of Ohio, called for the report of the Committee on Credentials, and moved that the report on Rules lay on the table for the present. Carried.

Mr. Benton, of N. H., from the Committee on Credentials, reported no contested souts rrent nativite in reducing from that circumstance, that the mass of Croatian, Sclavonian, or Wallachian peasants are about to learn the Magyar language, that the schiematic Greeks, Protestants, Roman Catholica, and Jews of Langary will form an homogenous applomeration; and that the infantry of the frontier regiments will entertain the same sentiments as the hussars of the Hungarian plain.

If Hungary were to free herself from Austria, Russia would easily divide the Sclavonians and the Magyars, who are almost equally numerous, and would afterward rush the Magyar race by throwing into the balance the Russian sword, joined to the arms of the Servains and the Roumains. The dream of an independent Hungary, peaceable in the interior and strong abroad, can not be realized; it can only enter the cracked heads of the revolutionay tacticians, whose efforts end, by exciting excessively the pride of nations, in thrusting them beneath the yoke of despotism. If Hungary ceases to be united to Austria, she can not fall to become German or Russian.

Mr. Benton, of N. H., from the Committee on Credentials, reported no contested sents out of the twenty-four States represented.

Mr. Dawis, of Mass., moved to refer back so much of the report of the Committee on Credentials as referred to Texas.

Mr. Wilmot moved to amend by including Maryland, Kentucky, Virginia, all the Territories and District Columbia, saying that it was not proper that States where there are no party and no Republican organisation, be admitted on the same footing as where Republicans are in great majority.

This elicited very warm remarks from Messrs, Palmer, of Maryland, said he stood before this free Convention as a Republican of the State of Maryland, He claimed to be as good a Republican as any of the People's party of Pennsylvania.

Mr. Blakely, of Kentucky, was surprised to find a proposition to banish Kentucky from the Convention. He should not have been more surprised had a proposition been made to banish the ashes of Washington from beyond the limits of the Union, or that the sacred dust at Ashland should be banished beyond the borders of that State, or that Cassius M. Clay should be sent into exile, [Cheers.] Who would dare to banish the tree sons of Kentucky, or of Maryland, or Texas, or the District of Columbia from this Convention?

Texas, or the District of Columbia from this Convention?

Mr. Phillips, of Kansas, said he stood here as the representative from a Tarritory which would have been a State to-day but from its fidelity to Republicanism. He did not believe that any man would desire to banish Kansas from the Convention. [Cheers and cries for Wilmot.]

Mr. Wilmot said that he regretted that he had been misunderstood. He made no proposition to exclude the gentlementfrom the Convention, He had simply moved to refer back certain States to the Committee, to decide what vote the several States should be entitled.

New Mode of Making Butter.

A French chemist has invented a new mode of making butter, by means of a filter, instead of a churn, the apparatus being of the most simple character. The filter is a kind of bag, formed of white folt, or even sheeting. The bag should resemble, in shape, a military fatigue cap, only being much longer than deep. From each of the two corners issues a porous string, (a piece of ordinary wicking is best), destined to furnish an outlet for the liquid parts of the cream about to be placed inside the bag, which should be suspended from two rigid stems, to hold the corners in place. The filter being filled with cream, the whey, or this milk, will soon drip through the cloth, or pass out by means of the wick conductors. In the course of twenty-four or thirty hours, nothing but the cream will remain in the filter, and this will be as thick as the cheese known in America as "smearcase." The process is now half completed. The solidified cream is taken out and placed in a strong linen sack, the aperture of which is closed with a bit of twine. The whole is placed in a bread trough, or on a table, and vigorously kneaded with the two hands. In a few moments, the sound of a slight splashing, and the issue of water, will indicate that the butter is made. There is no more to be done but to take out the contents of the sack, and work out the buttermilk in the usual manner. Practical housekeepers will thoroughly appreciate the rapidity and economy of a process like this, which also has the advantage of ensuring the purity of an article so abominably adulterated as the butter sold in cities cide what vote the several contitled.

There has been no vote indicating preferences, but Mr. Saward on the first ballot will probably have 160 or 180 votes of the 448 votes cast.

The balloting is expected to commence this afternoon.

Persourage, May 17.—The meeting of the Douglas Club last night was attended by a brige number of the leading Democrate of the county, J. R. Hunter presiding.

Resolutions were passed unanimously requesting the President to issue an address in reference to the action of the Charleston Convention, recommending the friends of Mr. Douglas to hold meetings at the various precincts to instruct delegates to the National Convention at Baltimore, asking Convention. As Arab-slaughtering Lunatic Demands as Imperial Interview.—We learn from a late Paris paper that a lunatic, whose delusion was of a singularly sangulary nature, recently presented himself at the palace gates, and sought speech with Napoleon III. He was a retired Lieutenant-Colonel, and rene was a retired Lieutenant-Colonel, and re-sided at Dijon; he came to well the Emperor that, when serving in Africa, he slaughtered and decapitated with his own right hand five nundred Arabs, between sun and sun; if his Imperial Majesty doubted this statement, he was ready to bring the five hundred heads into the palace, and thus convince him that Committee to open a correspondence to call a Convention for 5th June to instruct delegates to Baltimore for Douglas. The Democracy of this county, generally, are enthusiastic for Douglas. into the palace, and thus convince him that he was an officer of truth as well as of valor.

Prem New York.

Naw York, May 17.—The trotting match between the two celebrated stallions, "Geo. M. Patchin" and "Ethan Allen" came of yesterday afternoon, on the Union Course. The day was everything that could be desired, and the track in good order. About ten thousand persons were present. The horses were both in prime condition. "Patchin" won the first heat in 225, by a neck, and the second heat "Patchin" won in 224, by a length. On the third heat "Patchin" won in 229, by two lengths, thus winning the race in three straight heats. "Ethan Alien" was driven by Dan Parfer, and "Patchin" by D. Telman.

Among the heavy losers was John Morrissey, who laid a hundred to forty on "Ethan Alien." From New York. His special object in coming to Paris was to obtain some recompense for an exploit which so redounded to the glory of its belle France. Alas! the poor man did not even get a ribbon, nor yet an appointment to a provincial post-office; he was sent to the Prefecture of Po-THE LATE HEAVY FORGERY ON THE STATE BANGOF GEORGIA—A CLERGYMAN THE FORGER. An individual recently arrested in Richmond, Texas, has been fully identified as the one who perpetrated a heavy forgery upon the State Bank of Georgia. The Savannah Republican learns that his real name is Lawson; hat he is a Methodist preacher, and was formany years a resident of Mobile. The package of money in his possession was found to be the same as was fraudulently obtained from the Bank, no part of it having been disposed of. The slip of paper containing the alculations of the discount clerk was also in the package, which was still wrapped in the dentical newspaper taken from the Bank. A requisition upon the Governor of Texas will be sent out immediately.

From Leavenworth.

Leavenworth, May 17.—Mr. Green Russell reports to the Council of this city that he arrived in Denver in twenty-nine days, was Smoky Hill Fork, making an average of twenty-one miles per day for the antire distance of six hundred and ten falles. He found plenty of water and grass along the route; also wood, with the exception of seventy-five miles, where fuel was not abundant. He met with no trouble from the Indians, and reports the route excellent, and one hundred miles shorter than any other. His report will be published. A GEORGIAN CHALLENGES HERRAN TO FIGHT FOR $10,000.—The Atlanta (Ga.) Confederacy is authorized to state that there is a man now living in Atlanta, who will fight the "Benicia.Boy" for the sum of "ten thousand dollars," the fight to come off during the present year, at any point south of Mason & Dixon's line. The person spoken of is a native of Georgia, stands six feet one inch in hight, and weighs two hundred and ten pounds. He is just in the prime of life. Should Heenan not accept the profered challenge, the Atlanta "Boy" challenges any man in Europe of America to fight him for the above amount.

Oswzgo, May 17.—A fire in Fulton, last night, destroyed block 15, second-class hote building, on Wall-street and Second-street. Loss about $7,000. Partially covered by in-

Sault Ste. Marie Canal. Extraordinary Suicips.—A man named Kirk, of Haverhill, Mass., jumped into the Merrimack River at that place, a day or two since, was pulled out, but jumped in again immediately after being rescued. He was taken out a second time, and finding that he could not end his existence in that way, seized his neck-tie and gave himself a most unmercital choking. He was then carried home, but died in five minutes after getting into the house.

Defract, May 17.—The Sault Ste. Marie Canal was opened for the passage of vessels on the 10th inst.

A BRACTIFUL GIRL SEVEN YEARS OLD VIOLATED AND CHOKED TO DEATH.—The daughter of Ellen Crome, a beautiful girl, seven years old, was brutally violated in Maumes, Lucas County, in this State, a day or two since, and then choked to death. The body of the little sufferer was found in a barn with a rope about her neck; but no clue has as yet been obtained by which the disbolical perpetrator of the set can be traced.

The Suicide of McDenald.—Robert C. McDonald's attempt to destroy himself by poison in the New York Toombs, proved successful, and it now seems that it had been his firm determination to do so for some months. He wrote a letter to one of the proprietors of the Mctropolitan Hotel, previous to swallowing the fatal draught, saying he loved Virginia Stowart, his imatriess, whom he had kilfed, better than all the world, and that he did not fear to meet her at the bar of God. Wealth of the Locisiana Delegation.—
The Louisians delegation to Charleston consisted of tweive members, was composed almost exclusively of planters and large property-holders, and represented several millions of the planting wealth of the State. There were in it no less than eight planters sugar and cotton, whose average incomes would exceed $25,000 per annum, and whose average number of slaves exceed sixty of seventy. Nineram Persons Possoner by Boot Bran.
At Six-trile-creek, Mich., nineteen persons, after drinking root beer which had been boiled in an earthen vessel, were taken sick and one died. It was discovered that the glazing on the vessel had discovered that the glazing on the vessel had discovered, and its constituents, which were poisonous, imparted to the liquor.

Capes is the South—In Edgefield District, S. C., the planters are rejoicing in the pros-pect of making a much better wheat and oats crop than they anticipated, and are well satis-fied with the appearance of their cotton and corn.
